Our internet radio station offers a continuous flow of music on the 24/7 stream at our website, where you can listen just like a real radio station, or you can dig each program and its playlist as they're posted daily.

After finishing off the editing and posting for next month's programming, it sunk in on me that it was a whole new year and we should do something a liittle bit different in 2023, so I moved some shows around to get a fresher approach and redid the whole shebang, as is evident in the revised January calendar.

Mondays and Fridays remain the same, but I kept noticing that Tom Morgan and David Kuniun were both heard on Tuesdays at WWOZ in New Orleans, so I moved both of them to Tuesday. Wednesdays feature the blues shows of Bruce Pingree and Roger White, and Thursday starts with Leslie Keros's Mood Indigo and ends with The Groove Yard with George Klein.

Linda Lexy's Party Train has moved to Saturday morning, followed by our Saturday night staple, The Soul Lucille Show, and Sunday completes the week with Jazz at Daybreak with Leslie Keros plus Face The Music with arwulf arwulf.

Good listening and have a great New Year!

FLY RIGHT—A MONK SUITE

JOHN SINCLAIR RADIO SHOW 987

Episode 987 is coming from Radio Free Amsterdam headquarters in Detroit's Cass Corridor at 55 Peterboro Street, and I wanted to start the New Year with an hour of music from my new album with New Orleans pianist Tom Worrell, recorded in early October by Mike Boulan at The Shop in Hazel Park. This project is a remake of my first album from 1991 with the late Cincinnati pianist Ed Moss, duet performances of 15 of my Thelonious Monk poems from always know: a book of monk performed to the Monk compositions they were inspired by. The Moss album was never released, the pianist and the producer both passed away, and the original tapes were lost in the confusement, so I decided to recut the program with Tom Worrell on piano for fly right—a monk suite.
